

Federal Government Revenues Have More Than Tripled Since 1965

Government revenue has soared by more than $1.55 trillion since 1965, in part because top marginal income, capital gains, and corporate tax rates were cut.

Federal Revenue by Major Source in Inflation-Adjusted Dollars (2008)

Source: White House Office of Management and Budget.