Messaging Priorities

- Waste and fraud in the welfare system should be eliminated.
- Able-bodied adults who receive cash, food, housing, or medical assistance should be required to work or prepare for work.
- To help the poor, the government should pay for real outcomes like ensuring people get off drugs or find a job—not just for providing services.
- Children are better off with a mother and father in the home. The welfare system should not penalize parents when they get married.
